

A model stack for converting cluster observables into evolutionary constraints

Marginalize rather than fix: line-of-sight position, transverse speed, wind-disk angle, ICM substructure, initial gas profile, feedback, and pre-processing

Key distinction: equations can predict susceptibility; a unique history requires multiple spatially resolved observables and explicit priors.